ONLINE CLASSES:

Due to the COVID 19 outbreak, normal classes and certain College activities could not be facilitated. In order to prepare student for their semester exam, almost all the teaching faculty pursued online classes and made use of virtual methods for teaching. Though these undertakings are purely individual efforts on the part of the teaching faculty and not dependable on RUSA, yet the undertaking of my colleagues and the eagerness of the students to learn in times of hardship is too precious to ignore. The following is some observation about the online classes and internet usage of our College during March-July 2020.

Online Educational activities undertaken: Online Classes have been conducted in Education, Economics, English, Geography, Political Science, History and Mizo using the following platforms/apps.

1. WhatsApp
2. Zoom
3. Microsoft team
4. Google classroom.

No. of students benefitted (approximate): 700

Number of students unable to attend online classes due to any reason: 450

Outcome/impact of the online educational fo be determined. Unlike normal classroom situation online interaction is a bit to be ward for some students. Since there is no need to dress up for online Classes, many students also find it very convenient. Many are more class for table than actual classroom situation and seem to pose more questions.

Major challenges:

- 1) Due to poor connectivity many students could not benefit from the programme.
- 2) Professors conduct the online classes through their laptops or PC's but students have only their smart phones and as such it is cumbersome for them to fully utilise the course contents with just a palm size device.
- 3) Students do not have a printer at home which is a major stumbling block for them for serious studies.

Suggestions for improvement:

- 1) Better internet connectivity
- 2) There should be an orientation for online classes during normal classroom situation.

Remarks:

Due to lockdown, some students went home to distant villages and are not communicable. Nevertheless online class is the next best thing to actual classroom teaching for the time being.

Mention must be also made that apart from online teaching, almost all professors have distributed study materials through Facebook and Whatsapp.
